

Privacy Policy

We at ONAHYPE believe strongly in customer confidentiality. All collected information is held in the strictest of confidence, and is never sold, or given to other service providers or advertisers. Personal information or any other information you provide is used only for the sole and express use of completing your service and is not shared in any way with outside sources or parties.